I'm not a bot

So lately I have revisted with Eco styler olive oil gel and have found that it gives me the most GORGEOUS defined rocking mini-twist out ever (I have to post updates soon. My hair has been growing like crazy since my B/C). But I'm having a couple of problems. I can't get it out without a clarifying shampoo so I've been clarifying more than once a week! That can't be good. Co-washing is out of the question for me with this gel and a regular shampoo doesn't seem to be doing the trick either. It just sticks and flakes. Also, if I want to re-do a couple of twists after a few days, I can't even seem to even spritz it with water without having it flake up on me. I always have to layer something underneath it because it makes my hair too dry and crunchy without something. I've tried Giovanni direct and coconut or castor oil but still have the same problems. Does anyone else have these issues? Maybe apple cider vinegar mixed with water rinse? It's supposed to clean your hair like shampoo. I do my usual wash/cowash with no problems. Are you rinsing the product out before adding the poo or conditioner? I rinse my hair well before I do anything else. ETA: I use coconut oil on damp hair, a little conditioner (Tresemme Natural or VO5 - I used to use Taliah Waajid bodifier). I let my hair dry til its just damp to the touch then add the gel with my finger and/or modified denman. Sometimes I add more oil on top. I refresh with water (no flaking) or mousse if it gets to frizzy and I don't want to wet it too much. Last edited: Apr 30, 2011 i need to shampoo get out of my hair otherwise i will get white clumpy residue. this is one of the reasons i do not like gel Reactions: happycakes Regular shampoo gets it out for me, SLS or SLS free. I didn't need clarifying shampoo to get it out Reactions: ajargon02 I use the olive oil ecostyler (a lot) and i dont have problems getting it out either. I rinse my hair really well first and i use Jason shampoo twice letting the second shampoo to get it out Reactions: ajargon02 I use the olive oil ecostyler (a lot) and i dont have problems getting it out either. I rinse my hair really well first and i use Jason shampoo twice letting the second rinse daily now with no probs. Ecostyler is kind of thick though, do you use a lot when you apply it? Maybe see if you can get the same results with less gel. i have no problem with cowashing the gel out of my usual wash/cowash with no problems. I refresh with water (no flaking) or mousse if it gets to frizzy and I don't usually rinse first, I just go straight for the shampoo. I will try doing a through rinse first and see if that helps. Thanks! Maybe apple cider vinegar mixed with water rinse? It's supposed to clean your hair like shampoo. ACV helps me get that squeaky clean feeling but I haven't been successful in getting it out either. I rinse my hair :-(I use the olive oil ecostyler (a lot) and i dont have problems getting it out either. I rinse my hair really well first and i use Jason shampoo smost often. Now i do shampoo twice letting the second shampoo sit on there for a minute or so but that is only once a week. I also rinse daily now with no probs. Ecostyler is kind of thick though, do you use a lot when you apply it? Maybe see if you can get the same results with less gel. I tend to be heavy-handed I have to lather 2-3 times to get it out. I use sulfate free shampoo. You can always try baking soda or keeping the style in longer. really! I usually just spray water on it and style it the next day. Or I'll rinse it out with water gets rid of the gel I'm not heavy handed with it though. I'm all like - whaaaaaaaaat. I've never heard of anyone having an issue getting Eco Styler out of their hair. I'll be watching for responses just in case I need to pass it along. My Eco comes out completely with a plane rinse. Reactions: the Raven and lilikoi Another option could be to dilute your Eco styler so that it causes less build up, I know lots of people mix it with Aloe Vera gel or some kind of oil. I also agree with one of the above posters that rinsing your hair before you shampoo, the pressure from the shower should help remove the product. I'm heavy handed with Eco styler for my wash and gos. I layer it over giovanni direct leave in and coconut oil and I rinses right out or cowashes out easily. No build up issues. really! I usually just spray water on it and style it the next day. Or I'll rinse it out with water when i'm in the shower. It doesn't stay in my hair like that ... exactly what I was about to say! I've only use EcoStyler Olive Oil Gel once for a wash n go and when I got in the shower, I rinsed my hair and it felt so soft and smooth. I didn't have any sticky flakes beforehand or after. soslychic - Were you extremely heavy product in your hair with the gel? Rinse as much of it out first, then apply your conditioner or shampoo. Even when using Eco gel (or any gel) I mist my hair with water and then use the gel to lay down my sides or twist my hair. I don't like gel on dry hair, it flakes. Thanks for all the replies ladies. I've discovered that rinsing out with plain water first does help tremendously. Using this method for several minutes, i am now often able to get it out with a regular shampoo now. But the flaking continues I don't understand why. I experience this with no other product. The heaviest thing I ever use it with is Giovanni direct and/or coconut oil. Otherwise, sometimes its just a spray in leave-in w/ some oil. It's strange. And since my hair is not extremely stiff it doesn't seem as if I am using too much. My scalp is not dry, not do I have dandruff. Weird...I am in search of another product that can provide some hold that is not a gel. Ughhh! I also have such a hard time getting this gel out of my hair! really! I usually just spray water on it and style it the next day. Or I'll rinse it out with water when i'm in the shower. It doesn't stay in my hair like that That is my experience.. I use eco Argan. But I only use it when slicking my hair back in a pony. I use eco but the clear one and have no issues as long as I rinse out a majority of the product prior to shampooing. I like wetline gel and camille rose curl maker gel. I know you said that you don't want to use gel, but these are lighter versions and it may give you the results you want without all the build up. Eco Styler gel is a popular product used to style hair, particularly curls. The product is alcohol-free, which is beneficial for people with wavy and curly hair as it doesn't dry out curls. There are several varieties of the gel, including Argan Oil, Olive Oil, Krystal, Curl and Wave, and Sport. The different types of gel have various benefits, such as defining curls, adding shine, and holding hair in place. The Olive Oil variety seems to be a popular choice, providing a great amount of shine and hold without causing flakes. The Krystal variety has the strongest hold but may cause flaking. The Curl and Wave gel is ideal for curly and wavy hair, defining and moisturising locks with a lightweight formula. Characteristics Values Ideal for Curly and wavy hair Weight Weightless Hold Firm Alcohol-free Yes Flakes No Scent Light, fruity Size 8oz, 16oz, 32oz Eco Styler Gel's Curly Hair Benefits Eco Styler Gels are a range of alcohol-free hair gels that can be used to style curly hair. The gels are available in different varieties, each with its own unique benefits. Here are some of the key advantages of using Eco Styler Gels for curly hair: Variety of Options: Eco Styler Gels offer a wide range of options to suit different hair needs. The gels are colour-coded and provide varying levels of hold. For example, the Olive Oil gel is ideal for wash-and-go styles, edges, puffs, coils, and curls, while the Krystal gel is perfect for those who want a strong hold for their edges or puffs. The Argan Oil gel is suitable for Type 2 and 3 hair, providing definition without too much shine. Alcohol-Free: One of the standout features of Eco Styler Gels is that they are all alcohol-free and a significant benefit for curly hair as alcohol can dry out curls and make them brittle. By using an alcohol-free gel, you can avoid this issue and keep your curls moisturised and healthy. Hold and Definition: Eco Styler Gels provide a firm hold that is ideal for curly and wavy hair. The gels help to define curls, making them look soft, shiny, and well-defined. The weightless formula gives a gravity-defying hold, allowing you to create various styles without weighing your hair down. Moisturising: The Eco Styler Curl & Wave Gel is water-attracting humectant that retains moisture in the hair. Additionally, the tea tree oil and calendula flower extract in the formula help to revitalise and refresh the hair and scalp. Ease of Use: Eco Styler Gels can be applied to dry or wet hair, giving you the flexibility to style your curls as desired. Simply work the desired amount of gel through your hair and create your chosen style. The gel can also be used with a curling iron or blow dryer for a casual look. Longevity: The firm hold of Eco Styler Gels ensures that your curls stay defined and in place for multiple days. Many users have reported that their curls remain defined and frizz-free for up to 3-4 days with only a light refresh needed. Value for money, with a single tub lasting up to a year for some users. The gels are available in various sizes, including 8 oz, 16 oz, and 32 oz, so you can choose the option that best suits your needs. In conclusion, Eco Styler Gels offer a range of benefits for curly hair, including definition, moisture, and a strong hold. With a variety of options to choose from, these gels can help you achieve the curly styles you desire while keeping your hair healthy and nourished. The key ingredients Eco Styler Gel's Ing converts the liquid solution into a gel, creating a clear, non-tacky, and viscous gel. Hydrolyzed Wheat Protein: Chemically chopped wheat protein consisting of amino acids, peptides, and proteins. It has moisturising and film-forming properties, repairing and conditioning hair. PVP (Polyvinyl Pyrollidone): A big molecule that forms a thin, even film on the hair, helping to hold hairstyles in place. Glycerin: A natural moisturiser found in the skin, which helps to maintain the health of the skin's lipids. It also acts as an emulsifier, helping water and oil to mix. Triethanolamine: Helps to set the pH of a cosmetic formulation. Sodium Hydroxymethylglycinate: A preservative. Polysorbate 20: A common emulsifier and surfactant, helping water and oil to mix and increasing the solubility of other ingredients. Tetrasodium EDTA: A chelating agent that helps products remain stable over time by neutralising metal ions in the formula. Argania Spinosa Kernel Oil (Argan Oil): "Liquid gold of Morocco", loaded with nourishing and moisturising fatty acids, antioxidant vitamin E, and phenols. It can revitalise and improve skin elasticity while nourishing the hair. Fragrance (Parfum): Nice-smelling stuff added to cosmetic products. Colourants: For example, Yellow #11. Other key ingredients in specific Eco Styler Gels include: Olea Europaea (Olive) Fruit Oil: Helps the scalp regulate its moisturising system the scalp. The Eco Styler Gels aim to be weightless, providing a strong hold without leaving hair stiff or crunchy. They are also alcohol-free, flake-free, and paraben-free. Eco Styler Gel is a popular product for people with wavy and curly hair. The gel is alcohol-free and suitable for all hair types and textures. Praying and Scrunching: Smooth the gel onto your hair using a praying motion after applying a leave-in conditioner or curl cream. Scrunch your hair with a T-shirt to encourage the formation of fatter clumps, which is ideal for wavy textures. Raking/Denman Brush Method: After smoothing the gel with the praying method, use your fingers or a Denman Brush to comb through your hair. This will create smaller clumps and is suitable for curly hair. Smasters Method: With wet hands, take half of the usual amount of styling product with wet hands and diffuse again until fully dry. Remember to use wet hands during the application process to avoid frizz and separated strands. Additionally, you can try the LOC (Leave-in, Oil, Cream) Method before applying the application process to avoid frizz and separated strands. For example, the Olive Oil gel is suitable for almost any hair type, while the Argan Oil gel is better for Type 2 and 3 hair. Finally, don't forget to scrunch out the crunch (SOTC) with an oil to remove the gel cast and add fluff to your hair once it has dried. Eco Styler Gel is a common gel used to define curls, slick edges, form updos, and more. It is an alcohol-free hair gel that is available in a variety of types, including Argan Oil, Olive Oil, Krystal, Coconut Oil, and Curl and Wave. The Argan Oil gel is typically best for Type 2 and 3 hair, providing a softer hold. The Olive Oil gel works for almost any hair type and provides shine, making it a popular choice. The Krystal gel also works for most hair types but is associated with possible flaking. Compared to other gels, Eco Styler Gel stands out for its ability to provide a strong hold without feeling heavy or sticky. It is also cruelty-free and Tetrasodium EDTA, a chemical considered slightly risky by some skin experts. While it is present in low quantities in the gel, some individuals may prefer to avoid it altogether. As an alternative to Eco Styler Gel, there are several natural hair gels available that do not contain as many harmful chemicals. These include As I Am Smoothing Gel, The Mane Choice® Biotin Infused Styling Gel, Alikay Aloe Berry Style Gel, Mielle Organics Styling Gel Honey & Ginger, and Kinky-Curly Curl Customer reviews. The product generally receives positive feedback, with many customers praising its effectiveness on curly hair. Here is a summary of customer reviews:Positive Reviews:Many customers with curly hair have praised the gel for enhancing their curls, making them more defined, shiny, and manageable. The gel is appreciated for its lightweight formula that provides a strong hold without feeling heavy or sticky. Some customers have mentioned that the gel helps reduce frizz and enhances curl definition, resulting in longer-lasting hair feeling soft and supple. Several customers have highlighted the value for money, with some mentioning that a small amount of the product goes a long way. The gel's ability to control edges, strays, and fly-aways is also appreciated, allowing for high-definition looks that last all day. The absence of flakes and residue is another positive aspect mentioned by customers. The pleasant, light scent of the gel is also well-received by users. Negative Reviews: Some customers have expressed concerns about the size of the product, stating that the container is too small for the price. A few reviews mention issues with the container quality, such as cracked or leaky jars, resulting in product waste. While some appreciate the hold of the gel, others find it insufficient or too strong, leaving their hair feeling stiff or crunchy. A small number of customers have reported flaking, which may be due to product incompatibility with other hair care products. A few reviews mention issues with the consistency or texture of the gel, finding it too thick or sticky. Overall, Eco Styler Gel receives mostly positive reviews, with customers praising its curl-enhancing abilities, lightweight formula, and value for money. However, there are some concerns about the size, container quality, and hold of the product. Yes, many curly girls with type 3 and 4 hair say that this is a great gel for natural hair. Reviews from Naturally Curly.com: "I have a 4A/4B textured hair and have been using the Olive Oil Eco-Styling Gel for a few years. The product is great and lays my hair down, but I have to use water to get a desired look...It works best on slick back styles and ponytails!""This has been a "go to" product for me since I went natural in 2012. This gel is good for wash n gos, ponytails and speaking the edges of my 4a natural hair type!" "Amazing!!! This was the first Eco Styler Gel I've ever used... And I don't regret it!! It provides amazing hold and keeps out the frizzies, it also defines my 3b/3c hair and does not leave it with flakes and residue. Plus, it's CG friendly." Is Eco Styler Gel Curly Girl approved? Yes, the Eco Styler Olive Oil Gel is Curly Girl approved. As noted above, it does contain protein as the 3rd ingredient and glycerin. It also contains Tetrasodium EDTA, which is a chelating agent which can build up on your hair over time. So, it may be best to alternate it with other gels in your regimen. Also, I recommend using a clarifying shampoo regularly (especially for type 2 hair) to avoid buildup. In my experience, this gel works best when paired with a medium-consistency curl cream or enhancing product. I like pairing it with the SheaMoisture Curl Enhancing Smoothie best. However, it also works well with a small amount of the Curls Blueberry Bliss Leave-In Conditioner. [affiliate links]One combination that does NOT work well is Eco Styler Gel + Cantu Shea Butter Curl Activator Cream. The ultra-moisturizing cream and the strong hold gel weigh your hair down and tend to make it look oily. For best results, ensure that your hair is well moisturized and doesn't have any tangles. Apply to wet hair after rinsing out conditioner and applying leave in conditioner and scrunch upward for definition. I usually allow my hair to air dry, but you can also diffuse for 10 minutes for better volume and definition. If you're in the US, You can purchase it on Amazon.com or NaturallyCurly.com. For my Canadian readers, the best prices are currently on BSW Beauty (Canadian company) or Hera Beauty (Canadian company). Walmart. You can try looking for Eco Styler gels there. Have you used the Eco Styler Olive Oil Gel before? If so, what did you think? I love this easy to use, budget friendly gel. And it gives me excellent hold and definition. Eco Gel is a gel used to shape curls, waves, or any hair needing hold. It uses eco-friendly parts. Its base is water, and small bits add hold. These bits may help or hurt your hair. The Ingredients Breakdown It helps to know the parts in Eco Gel. Here are some parts you find in many Eco Gel types: Water: The base that brings moisture and keeps balance. Polyquaternium: A helper for smooth style and shine; it can stick to hair if you do not wash well. Glycerin: A part that cools and helps keep flakiness away. Eco-Friendly Nature Many Eco Gel brands say they are eco-friendly. They do not use rough chemicals and usually do not hurt your skin or eyes. Still, eco-friendly does not always mean it is best for hair. The Benefits of Eco Gel Here we see ways Eco Gel may work for you: 1. Defines Curls and Waves Eco Gel shapes curls and Waves. It keeps hair in shape for an easier style and smooth look. 2. Holds Styles in Place Many choose Eco Gel because it keeps styles from moving. Applying a little can keep hair steady all day. 3. Eco-Friendly Ingredients For buyers who care for the earth, Eco Gel stands out due to plant-sourced parts and low use of man-made bits. 4. Hydrating Properties Water and glycerin work as a team to wet your hair. When used right, Eco Gel can keep hair from turning dry. The Downsides of Eco Gel Eco Gel Eco Gel does not help all hair. Some points to note: 1. Build-Up A main worry is that some parts, like polyquaternium, can stick and build on your hair. You may need a stronger shampoo now and then to wash it out. 2. Drying Alcohols Some forms of Eco Gel use alcohols that pull moisture from hair if used a lot. 3. Flaking Using too much gel can leave little scales, like dandruff, on the scalp and hair. 4. Not Suitable for All Hair Types Fine or thin hair may end up looking heavy or greasy when using Eco Gel, rather than full and light. Alternatives to Eco Gel If you worry about Eco Gel's downsides, there are other products that help you keep your style and hair health. Watermans Grow Me Shampoo If your aim is hair health, Watermans Grow Me Shampoo works well. It has biotin, rosemary, caffeine, niacinamide, argan oil, allantoin, and lupin protein. This shampoo works to wake the scalp and give hair more body from the root. Its action can help your hair grow faster. Check it out here. Mousse Mousse is a light product that lifts hair without the hard grip of gels. It rarely leaves residue, making it a natural choice. Creams Styling creams shape hair and calm frizz. They guard your hair when you use heat tools. How to Use Styling Products Effectively If you choose Eco Gel or another product, keep these hints in mind: 1. Start Small Begin with a little product. Add more if needed. It is hard to fix too much product. 2. Combine with a Moisturizer Use a wetting aid with Eco Gel if your hair. 4. Pay Attention to Ingredients Look at labels to avoid parts you do not want. Did You Know? Hair Myths: Many say gels cause hair loss. No solid study backs this up. Often, trouble comes when other harsh parts mix with gels. Natural Ingredients: Aloe vera is used long ago for skin and hair to keep them wet and shiny. Oldest Hair Product: Gels came in the 1960s. They began with punk styles and grew to serve many styles now. Q&A Section Q1: Can I use Eco Gel daily on my hair? A1: Most days are fine. Daily use may build up on your hair. Try to use gentler products as well. Q2: Will Eco Gel help with hair growth? A2: Eco Gel is for style. It does not push hair to grow. Use it with growth helpers like Watermans Grow Me Shampoo for more results. Q3: How do I prevent flaking when using Eco Gel? A3: Use less product on damp hair. A leave-in conditioner may mix in well. Q4: Can Eco Gel be used for all hair types? A4: Many hair types work with Eco Gel. Note, fine or thin hair might get weighed down. Q5: Are there any eco-friendly gels available? A5: Yes, many brands supply natural gels. Read the list of parts to be sure. Eco Gel can help you style your hair if you use it right. For hair that grows well and stays healthy, Watermans Grow Me Shampoo is a fine choice! Find it here. July 10, 2025 All of us seem to be the biggest fan of the Eco styler gels. But does Eco styler gel grow your hair? Yes, the Eco styler gel encourages and improves the hair growth process. It is alcohol-free, boosts the hydration level, and brings immense shine as well. It prevents flakiness and crunch factor and brings the texture to a position where its volume and length get improved. Lots of people have complained that using gels makes their hair hard and prone to breakage. But Eco styler gel is not one of those gels. Only cheap quality gels harden your strands, making them dry and brittle, and excessively vulnerable to damage and breakage! Let us see how this gel works: There are many reasons which convince people not to use these kinds of styling gels. Below you can go through their details: Some people strongly believe that styling gels have alcohol, which is why they no longer look interested in using these products. The presence of alcohol eventually dries out the strands, makes the texture rough and weak and makes them prone and 100% vulnerable to damage. It is somewhat seen that gels stunt and stop the growth process. This problem is also faced by many celebs like Jennifer Aniston styling gels make their hair hard and also stuck them together. It is one of the primary reasons that people do not feel like preferring gels and mousses. The crunch factor brings so much hardness into the strands that it gets tougher to detangle them. If the product is of low and cheap quality, it will definitely block the hair follicles. People have complained that gels produce messy build-up on their scalps and hinder the hair growth process. If your scalp is not clean and looks unhealthy, then you can see improved volume and growth in your hair. No, it does not damage hair. In fact, it promotes the growth process. There is a drastic difference between good and bad quality gels and this brand is known for making safe gels and mousses. Customers from Spain have praised using it. Lots of their products are made of 100% argan oil and olive oil. These ingredients promise to give healthy and nourished-looking strands. In addition, the mousses of this brand promise a hair-repairing process. You get a longlasting shine too! Yes, it does promote the hair growth process. Many girls have experienced that the application of this gel does not hinder and stop the growth process and in fact, brings rich volume of your strands will certainly get improved if you regularly apply the Eco styler gel. Like, you can start it and catch the most satisfactory experience. Loads of their products are made of 100% pure olive oil. Now, with this ingredient, your scalp and follicles will remain healthy. Immense shine will get added and split ends will be gone away. You will not see stop hair growth because the weightless formulation is present. Your curls or locks will not be weighed down, in fact, 100% nourishment will be delivered. It is alcohol-free and promises to encourage and fully push the growth process. No, it does not dry out your hair. It is expected that you will get top experience if you start regularly using this product. As we have already explained above it moisturizes and nourished the strands. In addition, the texture does not become brittle, dry, or weak. Though it is a pure styling gel, it does not have alcohol and it means that your strands will remain soft and silky and no longer. The ingredients like natural olive oil and argan oil promise to cure dryness and tame frizzy issue. Overall, the hair health becomes 10/10 and that is for sure. Below you can further go through the clarification that tells why this gel does not dry out your strands will remain dry-free. You will not get rough and dry curls. On the other way round, the curls will come out to be bouncy, shiny, and hydrating. Even if you apply this gel all day long, the texture of your hair will remain smooth and soft. Some of the styling creams of this brand have coconut oil which makes your strands well-manageable, and soft and you see no flakes, stiffness, or any kind of residue. Lastly, the Eco styler products are enriched and fully packed with butter and top-quality oils. Your curls get a natural hold and do not show a single amount of dryness! Yes, it is great for girls having a curly texture. In addition, they do not have silicones and parabens; they are free from the presence of petrolatum, and mineral oils. Due to all such qualities, girls with curls and natural locks consider it a first pick. It is somewhat promised that the application and regular usage of these gels will deeply moisturize your strands and successfully brings a soft look and a lot of shine to them. No, it does not cause cancer. One has to disregard these myths and fake speculations that the gels and mousses manufactured by this brand cause cancer; it is not proven that it has a carcinogen ingredient in it. The brand has consistently claimed that the Eco Styler products are FDA approved and are thoroughly tested and researched. In addition, their products also meet the EU's standards. This respective gel is alcohol-free. The main ingredients which are a part of this product include Carbomer and Hydrolyzed Wheat Protein. Moreover, it has Glycerin and Amino-2-Methyl-1-Propanol. The brand has included Tetrasodium EDTA and Olive Oil as its primary ingredients. Overall, an extensive number of their gels are alcohol-free, show weightless formulation, and promise to bring a superior hold and maximum shine. The primary purpose of using this gel is to nourish, hydrate, and repair your weak strands' texture. You can share with us your feedback on the question; does Eco styler gel grow your hair? We are confident that your answer will be YES! It is a good quality and safe-to-use styling product. The growth process does not get slow or stop, in fact, the texture, volume, and length seem to be drastically improved. The brand and its gels and mousses guarantee that the hydration level, moisture, and scalp health will get better. There will be no issues of hardness, flakiness, and crunch factor if you use this styling gel. Moreover, the strand's texture will not look dry and brittle and no split end or breakage issues will ever be faced by your hair. Stay tuned.
