Footnote: ArkiePrince Semi-RetiredSee Blog This PHP website template generator creates a two column layout with both a header and a footer. This PHP / CSS Style Sheet website template generator outputs full featured tableless code i.e. tables are NOT used for the website template with the column layout. The resulting website template is actually a combination of several files i.e. this is a true php, html, css template that makes it easy to control multiply pages at a web site. the following files: Cascading Style Sheet, CSS, File (style.css): All the layout i.e. a full cascading stylesheet maker with code. Header.html): The file 'called/loaded' by the php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header.html): Another php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one provides the HTML and CSS layout code for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one photoe for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one photoe for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another php include function but this one photoe for the header. Left Column (menu.html): Another photoe the left column code. Main Right Column (homebody.html): This 'php included' file is the main body section (right side) of the page Footer File (footer.html): Like header but this footer.html): Like header but this footer.html files - to generate the page. Also this basic website template links to the external style sheet (which makes it easy to control all the pages on a site with just one file). Bottom Line: This is a learn as you go code generator i.e. by changing input values and then viewing the source code, it's possible to learn a lot about PHP, HTML and CSS column layouts. Since the generated page is broken up into the various files and all pulled together by php includes, the resulting page(s) will all be uniform in appearance. Not to mention, much easier to manage because changing one file (such as menu.html) will automatically change the content on ALL pages. Of course, using the external style sheet will automatically change all the fonts, colors, etc on all pages at once.
